

BISHOP RANCH REGIONAL OPEN SPACE PRESERVE
(East Bay Regional Parks District)
Stream View Trail – Redtail Hawk Trail – Grey Fox Trail

2.48 miles

Approximate hike time: 1-1.5 hours

Access trailhead on South side of Morgan Drive
(approximately .25 miles west of San Ramon Valley Blvd)

Be sure to pick up a trail map before entering

Upon entering, follow the gravel path to the right for .06 miles
Enter through the cattle gate to access the trails.

Make sure to close the cattle gate complete behind you.

Once you enter through the cattle gate, take an immediate right towards STREAM VIEW TRAIL along the creek. .40 miles

Along the STREAM VIEW TRAIL, you will pass over several creek beds and small trees. Keep to your right.

Continue to follow the path (and use your map!) to follow the STREAM VIEW TRAIL as it begins its climb uphill. This portion of the trail is steep and uneven with an elevation gain of 700 feet. 1.10 miles

As you continue your climb, you will come to a junction with a trail sign, continue on the beaten path.

As you reach the summit, turn left onto REDTAIL HAWK TRAIL. .18 miles

Hikers will be rewarded with an amazing view of San Ramon.

You will continue along this wide earthen path until you join with the GREY FOX TRAIL on your left. .40 miles

Continue on GREY FOX TRAIL back to the cattle gates where you entered. .28 miles

This loop trail is not suitable for individuals with mobility issues or children as the paths are narrow, steep and uneven. It is recommended that hikers wear sturdy hiking boots, long pants and sleeves as ticks and mosquitos are present along the trail. The trail is a mix of mostly shade at the beginning and mostly sun from the middle to end of the hike. Plenty of water for all hiking companions (including dogs) is strongly encouraged.
